CALIFORNIA AIR RESOURCES BOARD ASKING FOR HELP FROM SMALL BUSINESSES

The California Air Resources Board has created a toolkit to help small businesses save money and reduce greenhouse gas emissions. The toolkit provides no-cost and low-cost steps to save money and resources, including energy efficiency, clean transportation, recycling, green purchasing and water conservation measures. Additionally, the kit provides funding opportunities, a small business recognition program, a business specific carbon calculator, and examples of successful California businesses from across the state that are already conserving resources and saving money. The Air Resources Board is asking small business owners to spend a few minutes to test-run their toolkit and provide feedback. The toolkit can be accessed at www.coolcalifornia.org/small-business. After you've browsed the toolkit, please provide complete the online survey to let The Board know what they can do to make it even better. Pilot test participants will also be featured on the www.CoolCalifornia.org Web site with links to your business's Web page.
